Cleveland Police Foundation (CPF)

Independent from the Cleveland Division of Police, we represent an alliance of business and civic leaders, law enforcement organizations, and individuals committed to the ideal that an educated, well-trained, and modernly equipped police department results in a safer community for all.

WE'RE MAKING A DIFFERENCE

The Foundation has been quietly working proactively by investing in and implementing innovative community policing initiatives, engagement activities and events that foster stronger relations to build bridges between citizens and police officers.

The Foundation's continuous investment in proven strategies and programs is bringing citizens and law enforcement together to resolve issues and encourage police openness to reform through cultural transformation.

PRINCIPAL PROGRAM DETAILS

Cultural Transformation

With the support of St. Luke's Foundation, we launched a pilot transformation project in CPD-4th District. A cultural diagnostic survey was developed to provide an honest assessment of the internal culture within District HQ as both a catalyst and roadmap for innovation and institutional change.

Public Safety Career Pipeline

The program engages high school students in underserved areas with leadership development activities and empowers them to build their social capital to equip themselves with the skills in preparation for a successful career in public safety. The goal is to close the gap between high school graduation and the eligibility age to apply for law enforcement opportunities. The Program is creating a "pipeline" of qualified candidates.

Community Policing

In partnership with Cleveland Police Charities, the Foundation develops and produces events to bring police officers and citizens together for a common cause. We work closely with officers in each CPD District engaged with outreach and community relations. Examples include facilitated dialogues between police officers and kids called "Conversations for Change," and events such as Fishing with Cops, Community Meetings with Police Commanders, and picnics.
